What Merchants are looking for

One unique tracking code

After the parcel arrives in our warehouse, your customer will receive an email with a tracking code that will show the location and status of the shipment throughout its entire journey. The identifier will stay the same even when the carrier changes for last mile delivery, or when the parcel is being processed in customs. This gives the customer peace of mind, a more positive delivery experience and can significantly relieve your Customer Service department.

Fast and easy integration

We have developed a software solution that can easily be integrated into your existing warehouse or e-commerce system. It serves as an interface that will provide our total landed cost calculator for the prepayment of the duties and taxes that shall be applied to a customer's order. Of course, our IT-team is available to offer support wherever needed.

Simplified customs handling

We handle customs including export declaration, duty payments and import processing. After the shipment is cleared by the customs office, we arrange for the delivery to the customer's doorstep. Customs regulations both in your own country and your countries of destination can change, duty free thresholds raised. We make sure to advise you well ahead of time and make sure the customs process runs smoothly no matter what.

Optional pickup from your warehouse

The first stop of your international shipments is one of our export warehouses, located in Frankfurt, London and New Jersey. How they get there is your choice - we offer you an optional pickup service from your own warehouse with one of our local partners. You may also choose to arrange the transfer by yourself, with your preferred service provider. No matter how the parcels reach our warehouse, once they arrive all parcels will be prepared and bulked for international shipping.

Prepayment of duties and taxes

Part of our service is the provision of a Total Landed Cost Calculator, which is integrated into the checkout process of your online shop. When your international customers fill their shopping carts, they will be shown the duties and taxes applicable to their order before they make the purchase. These prices are calculated using the HS-code of your product, as well as the export country and the country the customer is shopping from. You can choose whether you wish to list the fees separately, as part of the overall shipping costs or as part of the product price. The duties and taxes are then already charged to the customer as he completes his order so that he doesn't have to worry about them again. This enables us to take care of all customs payments, and in the end of every month we will invoice you for the duties and taxes accrued over that timeframe, once they arrive all parcels will be prepared and bulked for international shipping.

Express to-the-door delivery

As we arrange the payment of duties and taxes and make sure the customs clearance runs smoothly, there are no more obstacles for your parcels to be comfortably delivered to your customers' doorsteps. Being able to guarantee your customer hassle-free delivery all the way to his home can take a lot of uncertainty out of international shipping and positively impact your shop's conversion rate.

Competitive pricing

We offer competitive pricing comparable to postal costs and deliver at the speed of priority services. We achieve this by using our own network of strong logistics partners and by consolidating volumes of our client brands and retailers to achieve better prices.

Last mile delivery

Now if you visit for example the Ali Express website, you will see that their transport costs by sea are very low but deliveries are between 40 - 60 days!

Very few customers choose this service as the delivery period is too long. If they choose air/courier transport then the delivery period is 6 -10 days but the cost is higher!

What changes with the Chinese retailers choosing Eurofreight:

- Decrease of delivery times by sea of 10-15 days and with much lower costs.
- Decrease of delivery times by air of 2-3 days and with much lower costs.
